should be a factor in government decision-making about issues of public interest. This is the highest measure in Gallup's history, reaching an all-time high in a recent nationwide poll. The Morning Consult-Politico poll conducted Feb. 14-15 finds that 37% of Americans believe the government should take into account religious beliefs in weighing the public interest of a given issue. This is up from 27% in 2001, and it comes after 31% in 2007 and 26% in 1997. It is also higher than the averages in Gallup's
