FIFA is a series of association football video games produced by EA Sports, a subsidiary of Electronic Arts. It has been one of the most successful sports video games series of all time. The games are based on the official football (soccer) rules and regulations of the sport, and have sold more than 370 million copies worldwide as of March 2015. FIFA Ultimate Team The Ultimate Team mode features many of the original modes from FIFA 15, including Attacking Intelligence and Tactical Defending, which cater to players who prefer to stick to tactical and traditional tactics. Players can work out how the opposition will attack and defend by dragging and dropping their favourite real-world players into the game. The game's inventory system has also been improved, with players able to preview the strengths and weaknesses of their incoming teammates, enabling them to tailor their team build for their chosen style of play. FIFA Ultimate Team has also received a host of new features, such as improved AI and smarter scripting, while the Ultimate League matches have been made more competitive. VAR™ FIFA's popular VAR review system returns for FIFA 22, which enables VAR decisions to be reviewed, with the referee taking control of the game by instantly halting play if there is a serious incident. Video assistant referees will advise the referee on the strength of the referee's flag, and are able to make decisions on a number of scenarios. They can also issue penalties for players and teams, including red cards, yellow cards and sending-off, and can overturn goals. VAR can be used as a second referee or used by just one of the two referees. Biggest Club Battles Ever The Biggest Club Battles mode allows fans to build the best team in the world by taking control of any of the world's 24 biggest clubs. The mode is available to fans of all nations, with the teams available to choose from including Bayern Munich, Barcelona, Liverpool, AC Milan, Manchester City, Arsenal, Chelsea, Manchester United, Chelsea, Real Madrid, Juventus, Inter Milan, Manchester City, Porto, Valencia, Sevilla, Napoli, PSG, Milan, Bologna, Borussia Dortmund, Benfica, Olympiakos and Tottenham Hotspur.
