It provides a custom table with at least two custom fields. Because of some reason, I would like not to enable the table. However I want to use its fields from hook_schema. Is it possible? A: Drupal does not permit directly enabling/disabling tables; from the documentation on hook_schema: This hook is called after schema has been built, but before it has been enabled. The hook is useful when enabling schema to check that changes to the schema have been made. Therefore, using hook_schema as a hook for enabling tables would not be allowed. The role of the Pro-Q Diamond Phosphoprotein Stain in the Study of Human Tissue Proteome. The Pro-Q Diamond Phosphoprotein Stain is a vital and widely used tool in protein detection and quantification in any biological system. The unique optical characteristics of Pro-Q Diamond Phosphoprotein Stain allow it to be used in conjunction with any biochemical techniques such as 2D-DIGE, IEF, IMAC, or chromatography. Furthermore, the fluorescence properties of Pro-Q Diamond allow for it to be easily loaded into NMR tubes; thus, allowing for the facile detection of a range of phosphoproteins through Pro-Q Diamond staining. The use of Pro-Q Diamond is further validated by its quality control within a variety of biological experiments.Q: How to define inheritance in Protocol Oriented Programming?
