How To Save A Life. Lyrics.A variety of implantable medical devices, such as electrical stimulators or drug infusion devices, are surgically implanted in and/or about the body of a patient to deliver a therapy to an organ or tissue of a patient. For example, implantable medical devices can be used in the delivery of a therapy to a patient suffering from various conditions, such as pain, incontinence, movement disorders such as Parkinson's disease or tremor, epilepsy, stroke, visceral disorders, gastroparesis, obesity, or sexual dysfunction, or any other medical condition, which in a patient require the delivery of an electrical stimulation therapy, a therapeutic agent, a diagnostic agent, or a combination thereof to the patient. Implantable medical devices configured for the delivery of electrical stimulation or therapeutic agent/drug therapy can also be referred to as implantable drug infusion devices, implantable neurostimulator devices, implantable neurological stimulation devices, implantable medical devices, implantable diagnostic devices, or implantable sensor devices, among other suitable terminology. In general, however, the implantable medical devices can detect medical conditions and/or sense and/or deliver therapies to portions or components of the patient's body, including for example, nerves, muscles, glands, blood vessels,
