Warband 1.152.Q: Sqlite database file used up by program How does a sqlite database get used up by the.exe file of a program? I have a program that works with many sqlite databases. But after a while the.exe file gets corrupted or a hole is opened in the db file. Is there some SQL statement that deletes the old database? TIA A: You can delete the database with the following command: sqlite3 /path/to/database.db 'DELETE FROM main WHERE 1' As @SethJ said, you can also use the command sqlite3 /path/to/database.db 'SELECT sql FROM sqlite_master WHERE name =?"' to search the name of the table in the current database with the name you specified. To ensure you don't have any unwanted tables in your database, you can use the command PRAGMA table_info() (It is a good idea to test on an empty database, at least one time.) Q: How to do a conditional collapse with jquery I have this code: 1234 Hello! I want to collapse the tour when the target is Hello!. I tried this: $(document).ready(function() { $(".target").click(function() { if ($(this).text() == "Hello!") { $(".tour").collapse("hide"); } }); }); But it didnt do anything! Any ideas? A: You have 2 error in your jQuery:
