YouTubeÂ´s resolution is not one of the highest in the InternetÂ«Â», but itÂ´s still ok for viewing on the desktop. The first column contains the videoâ€™s current most used resolution, the second column the videoâ€™s original resolution, and the third column the resolution the video is currently playing at. Choose the resolution you wish to view it at. You can even choose to remember the resolution you chose. Thisâ€™s especially useful when you want to watch a video in a known resolution (e.g. 1080p) on a monitor with a lower resolution (e.g. 720p). Using the extension â€śyoutube.comâ€ť for example is a bad idea, because then you will always find a video playing in the highest resolution. See the list below for the current most used resolutions. There are a couple of questions out there that have nearly the same issue, but with one difference. The main culprit is this: $ vagrant ssh $ composer install The first command goes fine, the second command gives this error: Your requirements could not be resolved to an installable set of packages. Problem 1 I've run composer global require "phpunit/phpunit":5.4.6 for the second command, and when I then run $./vendor/bin/phpunit, it seems to work fine. Problem 2 However, when I visit I get this error: Failed to load The requested URL returned error: 404 The third problem When I visit I see this error: Failed opening required 'C:\\xampp\\htdocs\\api\\phpunit\\vendor\\autoload.php' (include_path='.;C:\xampp\php\PEAR') I've searched everywhere and can't find out how to solve my issue. I would appreciate help as this is now costing me hours of debugging. A: I fixed it by adding :xampp to my /vendor/bin/php: #!/xampp/bin/php 6d1f23a050
