Just use any of the many key combinations that will launch the macro recorder, record your keyboard keystrokes as an.exe, wav or mp3 file, and add it to your game using the 'plugins' section in the game's start menu. No more cumbersome wav file renaming required. Keymacro automatically renames itself when it detects that it has been renamed. Customizable appearance! You can change the background color and choose from several backgrounds, including several different styles of backgrounds, as well as placing images on each key or macro. Macro 'Text' button! If you don't want to include images on your custom macros, the macro recorder has an option to include a 'text' box on the macro, which will display any text that you include in the macro. This can make it easier to include text that will be displayed in the game. Screenshots: Keymacro () is one of many software tools that you can use to record and playback your computer's keyboard keystrokes, while the computer monitor is in 'idle mode'. Keymacro is designed to work with any version of Windows 2000 and newer, and offers multiple security levels. Features: Record multiple keyboard keystrokes. Records all mouse movements too! Permits recording of the Windows XP keyboard, as well as any other available keystrokes. Records macros without requiring the display to be on. Support for Windows 2000 and Windows XP. Easy to record macros. Does not run in the background. Easily edited key macros. Edit by double-clicking the macro. Macros can be moved to any folder on the computer. Manage macros using any text editor. Configure the appearance of your macros. Macros can be resized to be smaller or bigger than the keyboard, or the video display! Keeps macros from being repeated. Includes a long-key macro feature, which is useful for fighting spam and retrieving long items. Back and forward buttons for easily navigating between macros. Make macros automatically resume after they are stopped. Editable text, so you can easily include text that will be displayed onscreen. Delete any existing macros. Auto-format any text using a preset format. Built-in "triggered keystrokes" feature. A special feature for users who 2edc1e01e8
